Douglas Cooper Moody, Sr., was born on February 9, 1964, in Alexander City, Alabama. He passed away peacefully in his hometown on October 14, 2024. Known for his loving nature, witty humor, and passionate spirit, Douglas's zest for life and unwavering faith left an indelible mark on all who knew him.

Douglas graduated from Benjamin Russell High School, where he formed many lifelong friendships and laid the foundations for his future. A fervent supporter of the Alabama Crimson Tide, Douglas's passion for football was infectious. Game days were a time of joy and camaraderie, as he cheered on his favorite team with friends and family. But beyond his hobbies and interests, the role Douglas cherished most was that of a family man. His love for his family was immense, especially for his granddaughter, Margaret Ann, whom he adored. The title of Paw Paw was the one he held most dear and fulfilled with great pride and joy.

Douglas is survived by his loving wife of 41 years, Kristi Moody; his daughter, Meredith (Michael) Wingler; his granddaughter, Margaret Ann Wingler; his brother, Frank (Danielle) Moody; his sister, Betty (Marlin) Smith; his sister-in-law, Melanie Moseley; and several adoring nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his father, Frank Durrell Moody, Sr.; his mother, Julia Moody; and his son, Douglas Cooper Moody, Jr. The memory of these loved ones provided him with strength and comfort throughout his life.

Douglas's life was a beautiful tapestry woven with love, friendship, and faith. Those who knew him will remember his infectious laughter, his warm embrace, and his unwavering commitment to the things he held dear. As we bid farewell to Douglas Cooper Moody, Sr., we take solace in knowing that his legacy will continue to inspire and uplift us.
